HISTORY

We, the tired, weary, but still kicking Seniors, now disclose our class history. This is an unvarnished account of our four year struggle at Shrewsbury High. These years are the so-called "best years of our lives."

September, 1947, found a bewildered group of some fifty-four freshmen entering the famed halls of Major Howard Beal High School. This was the famous class of '51. We had no sooner adjusted ourselves to the routine of everyday schooling when we found ourselves voting for our fellow-students. The returns of this election showed that Paul Clark had been elected president, Alan Daniels vice-president, Cy Farnsworth secretary, and Bingie Zuromskis treasurer. Barbara Putnam, Bill Linton, and Bob Englund were elected to the Student Council.

Came September, 1948, and we returned to good old Beal where we were joined by quite a few newcomers from Coolidge. The membership of our class had now reached a total of eighty. As wise sophomores, under the guidance of Miss Gucciardi and Mr. Lalli, we started the year right by re-electing Paul Clark to the presidency. Mike Rigiero was elected vice-president, Ann Seugin secretary, and Bobbie Loomer treasurer. Our ambitious representatives to the Student Council were Phyllis Milde, Irene Southworth, Gail Riley, and Jean Dube. During our Sophomore year we put on only two dances.

September again rolled around and we, the Juniors, under the capable guidance of Miss Gucciardi and Mr. Jacobs began a very busy year. We started right in by electing officers. Mike Rigiero became our president, Marilyn Sencabaugh secretary, Carl Liljestrand vice-president, and Bobbie Loomer treasurer. Our Student Council representatives were Barbara Putnam, Bingie Zuromskis, Theresa Betti, Dot Flynn and Joyce Firmin. We got right to work by starting our book cover sales in October. Our first dance was called the Harvest Hop and it proved very successful. Our next dance was the Cupid Dance held in February, which also was a success. Spring came and with it came the Annual Junior Prize Speaking Contest. Ann

Fairbanks walked off with first prize with her touching selection "Honey." Bill Andersen captured second prize and Bingie Zuromskis took third. Then came that wonderful night of June second. This was the night of our Junior Prom. Beautiful girls and handsome fellows danced under a romantic tropical moon. Palm trees and monkeys, coconuts, lovely flowers and hula-hula girls all lent to the tropical splendor of a Hawaiian atmosphere. Glamorous Anne Perreault was chosen queen of the Prom while four other beauties, Jean Dube, Bingie Zuromskis, Gail Riley and Bev Sweetman became her attendants. Finally the end of June arrived and we exhausted Juniors promptly retired for our badly needed ten-week vacation.

Came September and sixty-eight Seniors returned to their classes, ready to start the last lap of "the struggle." As ambitious Seniors we elected Bill Andersen to lead our class. Manuel Simonian became our vice-president while Marilyn Sencabaugh and Bobbie Loomer were re-elected to their respective offices of secretary and treasurer. Barbara Putnam, Ann Fairbanks, Phyllis Milde, Dot Flynn, Joyce Firmin were elected to the Student Council while Bingie Zuromskis became an associate member. Our first dance of the season was the Victory Dance held Thanksgiving evening. Everyone was in high spirits as our football team had beaten our rival Westboro in the morning. Fritz Mowry and his date were the lucky couple to be chosen King and Queen of the dance. During the fall we continued our sale of book covers and started to sell Christmas Cards. These two projects added quite a bit to our sick looking treasury.

And now we, the class of '51, leave the hallowed halls of Major Howard Beal High School. Some of us will continue our education, some will find jobs and many will be called to serve Uncle Sam. It matters not where we go or what we do, we will always remember the pleasant memories that go with high school. And in the future years we will have class reunions where everyone of us may come and recall our high school days as "the best years of our lives."

As usual, Henry and I, while watching MY television set at MY house, had a slight disagreement.

"I want to see something different tonight," said Henry.

"No, you can't: I want to see the show that I want to see," I declared.

"You never see it my way," complained Henry.

"Oh, look, there's the five minute news bulletin. Oh, poor Kenny Johnson, the Olympic ski champion, was injured while jumping off a ski jump."

And from the television set came the words, 'That favorite cook of yours, Marguerite Sammataro, has had a bad cold during the past week and lost the cooking championship because she could neither smell nor taste the food she was seasoning.'

"Look, Henry, that famous explorer, David Park, has just come back from Africa with his secretary, Nancy Judson. He states that

'Now our exclusive—Marvin Sanborn, the famous scientist and inventor, just came back from Russia and states that authorities over there claim they invented the jumping beans.'

"Let's look at channel 4. Why, it's the American Red Cross Convention from Mechanics Hall in Boston and the main speaker is Barbara Putnam. Listen" 'And it is true that the Red Cross has made great strides since 1951. Now, here to my left is Analee Andrews, who will show you the correct way to attack a wrenched back. The patient is Bruce Symonds, who was injured when he fell under a stack of canned goods. Marie DeSalvio will describe the process of rubbing the hills out of the backbone.'

"Can you imagine poor Bruce lying there strapped to the table watching Analee come toward him with a carpenter's plane?" gasped Henry.

"Oh, here's one of those commercials. Well, it's Bill Andersen and he's telling us that we should fly by Andersen's Consolidated Airlines. Do you know that Arthur Clemons was up in his office the other day still trying to sell ads for the 1951 Colonial?" I put in.

Bill certainly has had a lot of luck in politics. You know his secretary, Barbara Norton, was once part owner of Hebert Candies, but she ate up all the profits.

"Hey, the races from Indianapolis Speedway!"

"It's almost over," the announcer boomed. "Number 13 is in the lead, followed by number 7. Number 14 had a slight accident a while ago when it developed motor trouble and stalled on the track. Five racers smashed into it before the driver, Bob Englund, was thrown clear and landed at the feet of nurse Ann Perreault who is now helping him up. Bob's assistant, Manuel Simonian, is out there now, and is amazed at how the thing ever ran at all. Well, the leading car is coming up to the finish line after the last lap and it has smashed into a big stack of emergency tires and bounced back, just enough to come in second. Yes sir, Bob McCowan sure had his taste of bad luck today."

"Another commercial," said Henry. "Listen, it's that famous actress, Ann Fairbanks." 'And I always stop in at Carl Liljestrands and Bill Linton's new "Blue Sunoco" station. They have such nice gas and they are such dear boys to talk to. I'll be seeing you in my next picture "King Solomon's Harem." Bye!'

"Now it's my turn. Turn the channel." And so switching to channel 17 we see before us on the screen what looks like the inside of a hospital. Sure enough, here comes—well, for gosh sakes—Marilyn Sencabaugh, Joyce Firmin, and Dorothy Flynn, all dressed in their nurses' uniforms. How efficient they look. Into a room they march. I wonder who that is with a broken leg. Maybe they'll show us a close up. Well, blow me over, if it isn't Farley Granger. A few strings must have been pulled in order to torture one poor man with those three effervescent girls."

The next flash on our screen is the operating room. Nurse Kathleen Mullen is assisting Dr. Collamore on with his gloves. The room is darkened and the operation begins. That is, I think it begins! There's nothing on the screen but blackness! Well, we've been sitting here for ten minutes seeing nothing. Finally the lights go on, and we see Nurse Gloria Symonds congratulating Doctor Collamore on his first "new-theory" operation. It is explained to us that the good doctor had so many near accidents on the operating table, that he decided to operate in the dark; the light made him nervous. His first victim—I mean patient—was his old friend, Moe Catino.

"Doctor Collamore wanted in the telephone booth," comes the voice from the loud-speaker.

"That voice sounds familiar," I said. "I wish we could see who it was."

And then as if a genie had heard me, on the screen appeared the office of the hospital. There sitting at the switchboard was Ginny Hesselton and at a desk nearby sat Helen Stoneback, calmly typing hospital records. Turning my attention to the receptionist I was stunned to see Theresa Betti, looking very demure as she directed visitors to their respective patients.

"Gosh, there's Fritz Mowry coming in the door. Doesn't he look prosperous!" I ventured.

"Now it's my turn to turn the channel," yelled Henry.

"Oh, please don't—they're showing us the emergency entrance now," I protested.

There was Pete Anderson calmly and skillfully backing an ambulance up to the door.

"O.K.! Turn the channel," commanded Henry.

"We'll wait until after this advertisement," I said.

And on the screen came the advertisement for television sets. I noticed that Cecile Dumas was trying to sell television sets to Bette McGinley, Marilyn Gentesse, and their husbands.

"There, Bette bought a set, now you can go over to her house instead of coming here to see television," I barked at Henry.

"Now can I turn the channel?" he asked. "At least now we'll see SOMETHING."

I sat back in my chair, my eyes glued to the screen. "No, it couldn't be."

But it was. There was Joe Montecalvo and Rocky Martinelli. Joe was calmly stirring something in a kettle while Rocky was demonstrating how to wind spaghetti on a fork. I realized that what Joe was stirring must be his famous "Italian sauce."

Suddenly a third man appeared on the scene. "Hurry, hurry, boys, hurry; we must not keep the customers waiting." It wasn't until then that I recognized Rudy Alano. Rudy had been a singing chef but was promoted to a singing waiter.

"This program is over. Turn to channel 8. They're supposed to show an aerial view of Miami Beach and maybe we'll see someone we know," suggested Henry. "Oh, yes! hmmm— they must be having a talent show."

The first in line was Gail Riley, modeling her latest creation. Two of Shirley Greenwood fashions were next, modeled by Bev Sweetman and Virginia Pepper. They both looked stunning. Their dresses were of nautical design. Shirley must have got her ideas from Mr. Jacobs' famous "trig" classes.

After the fashion show came a "talent show." All the most popular artists of the time were making personal appearances. Frances Zuromskis, a first-year star at the Met, appeared with her manager, Marty Wilson. She said that she was sorry she couldn't appear last week but her manager had had a very severe case of the chicken-pox. Next on the program was Bev Gonya, following in her sister's footsteps, singing the blues. "The third guest star will be Ruth Sandy with her all girl orchestra," boomed the announcer. But Henry turned the channel again.

"What kind of a program is this?"

"It's a girls' agency. They're jacks of all trades."

"Hello—yes, this is the Bonardi All Purpose Agency; President Bonardi speaking—you want to hire a girl to present the ballet at your daughter's birthday party? We'll send one over. Miss Backholm—report to the Rigiero Mansion at two o'clock today."

Dotty Backholm appeared on the screen dancing about. It seemed obvious that she was glad to know that she would see her old friend Mary Ryder that afternoon. It seems that Mike must be very successful to be living in such a splendid home. Of course, at the Agency, I wasn't surprised to see Marion Perreault and Gloria Pirone. They did exhibition dancing. I also saw Ginny Carroll and Jane Chamberlin taking rapid dictation from George Nash, Carol's business manager. Also using the agency as a home base was "Bobbie" Loomer who hired herself out to parents who wished their little monsters to learn that great all around sport of basketball. The picture on our screen now shows Maryann Sanborn giving some pointers to the less fortunate on "how to trap a man," or "don't give up the ship."

"Well, I guess that program's over," sighed Henry.

On the screen appeared the advertisement that I had been waiting for; the rules to the Toni Twin contest. "Guess which twin has the Toni?" And then the Toni Twin's heads appeared. I was amazed to find that the Toni Twins were none other than Elva Levesque and Ruth Bates. I also noticed that the man giving the contest rules had a familiar voice but it wasn't until he said that his name was Donald Anderson that I remembered him.

"On the last Toni Twin contest I won the prize, so I don't see why I can not win this one," I retorted.

"Come on—how come you won?" Henry asked.

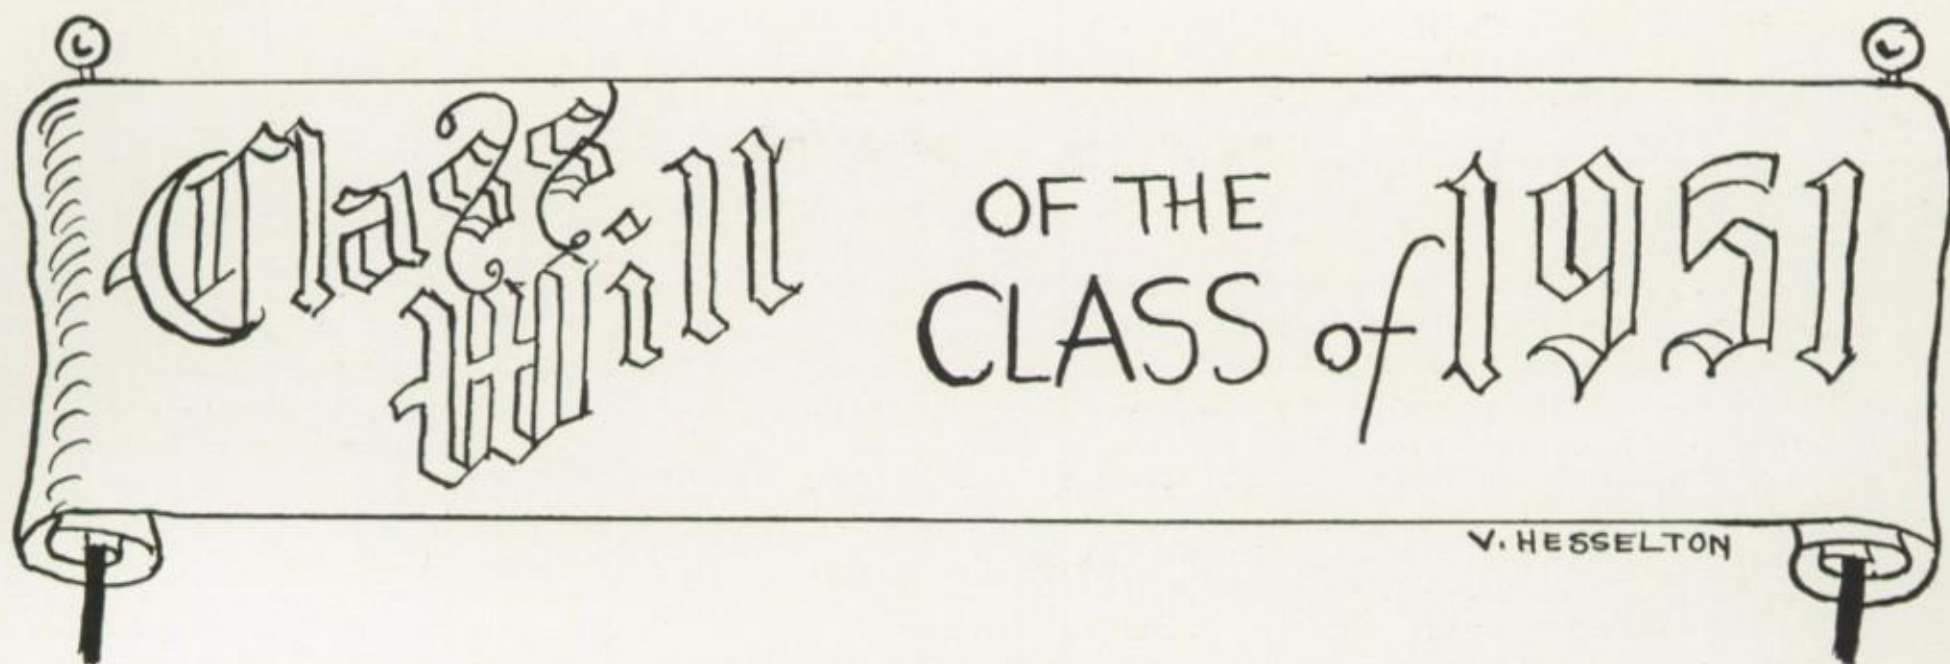

"Well, Donna Nelson and I were in high school—and she wrote me a letter telling me a very simple way to get rich quick. She told me that she and Astrid were the Toni Twins and which was which."

Next on our T.V. set was a sports program with sports-casters Charlotte Turner and Peggy Hayes interviewing Ann Seguin and Squash Johnson. You know of course that Ann is the captain of the All-American Girls' Hockey Team, which recently won its 87th consecutive game. Squash, of course, is one of the co-captains of the All-American Football Squad.

"It's sign-off time," I hinted to Henry.

"May I come over again?"

"Yes, of course," I sweetly replied. "Good-bye, and don't forget we have a date for June 23, 1991."

Class Song

*Time has come for us to leave now
And although we'd like to stay
We must keep on going forward
To our goals so far away.
Into this great wide world of ours
We are now prepared to fight
For peace and good of mankind
And changing wrong into right.*

*We will always remember
Before every thing we do
That we have all been taught to be
Loyal, thoughtful, and true.
And as we grow old and weary
Even then we'll stop and sigh
As we think of the days we've spent—
Our four years at Shrewsbury High.*

The Student Council is composed of nineteen members, who are elected each year by their respective classes. The members are in the ratio of three Freshmen, four Sophomores, five Juniors, and five Seniors plus the Senior class president. The Student Council has charge of the suggestion box which is located in the office. Pupils are urged to use this box to make worthwhile suggestions and recommendations to improve conditions in the school. The Student Council also sends two delegates to the Junior Red Cross Council. It has other duties among which are the supervision of class and Student Government Day elections. The Council sends delegates to National, State, and Regional Student Council Conventions. Committees that work with the cheerleaders and the traffic squad come from the Student Council. Under the capable guidance of Miss Ethel Sawin and Mr. James Cooke, the Student Council functions smoothly and efficiently.

	William Linton	Joyce Firmin

This year the Traffic Squad has worked efficiently. It has tried and succeeded in making a systematic plan to promote smooth traffic lines throughout the halls. The squad consists of approximately thirty members, who are elected by the National Honor Society at the end of each year from the sophomore and junior classes. These members are given directions from the captains, one on each floor, and from the sectional leaders, two on each floor. The teachers themselves have helped immensely in securing orderly traffic lines. Membership in the Traffic Squad is a service to the school. The work that these girls and boys have done is certainly appreciated by all the faculty and by the students themselves.

The Town Crier, our school newspaper, has had a very successful year, thanks to the guidance of Miss Lothrop, Mrs. Hamel, and the assistance of Miss Shea and her competent typing class (Class of '52). Five issues of the "Town Crier" were published this year, every one of which was well received by the student body. The National Honor Society was established by the Association of Secondary School Principals for the purpose of recognizing students who are outstanding in the qualities of character, scholarship, leadership, and service. The faculty and the faculty council select candidates who are in the upper third of their class. Seven per cent of the Junior Class is elected to the society near the end of the school year. Eleven per cent of the remainder of the class is selected in March of the Senior Year. In pursuance of its policy of service to others, this society participates in many activities during the year. Members serve as ushers at the Open House. As a means of raising funds the society has sponsored illustrated lectures for students. Successful auctions have also been held. Memorial Day, the society decorates the war memorial on the Common. Contributions to CARE, March of Dimes, Junior Red Cross, and other worthwhile causes are some of the other activities. Membership in this society is considered one of the highest honors that this school can confer. A member of this society is a member of a national organization that is represented in about 3,000 other secondary schools in the United States. Thus, we should feel justly proud to have the National Honor Society in the Shrewsbury High.

National Forensic League

President..... William Andersen
 Vice-President..... Frances Zuromskis
 Secretary..... Nancy Judson

The Shrewsbury Chapter of the National Forensic League has accomplished much this year both in debating and in public speaking. The League was especially proud to receive the Leading Chapter Award from the National Organization. Besides its various other activities, the National Forensic League has undertaken the sponsoring of the Young Debaters Club and the Richard Fipphen Speaking Contest. The debating teams have taken an active part in various contests. The National Forensic League has also offered many opportunities for public speakers to display their talent. Other activities included the presentation of a Talent Show on March thirtieth, and a sausage and pancake party, with Clinton debaters as guests. The National Forensic League has enrolled new members, and with the excellent leadership of Miss Dorothy M. Churchill, these new members will undoubtedly enjoy just as successful a year as have former members in the past years.

The Young Debaters

President.....Robert Parker
 Vice-President.....Marianne Torrens
 Secretary.....Carrol Flynn
 Treasurer.....Larry Murphy

With the aim of becoming members of the National Forensic League, a Young Debaters Club was formed by twenty enthusiastic freshmen and sophomores early in the school year. This new organization was sponsored by Miss Dorothy M. Churchill, Shrewsbury debate coach, and Frances Zuromskis, a N. F. L. member. The club has been successful in that all the members learned the fundamentals of debating. Along with the experienced debaters, the club members have debated against teams from Clinton High, Grafton High, and North High in Worcester and have also represented Shrewsbury High at the Roxbury Debate Clinic and the Laconia, New Hampshire Practice Tournament. Problems of debating are discussed at the meeting on Mondays and practice debates are held. English debating and extemporaneous speaking have also been included in the program.

Junior Red Cross Council

President.....	Barbara Putnam
Vice-President.....	Bruce Norton
Secretary.....	Judy Ireland
Treasurer.....	Marion Milde

The Junior Red Cross Council was started here three years ago and has since become one of the outstanding organizations in the school. Members include a representative from each home room, two delegates from Student Council, and the two delegates to the Inter-High Council in Worcester. This year the delegates to the Inter-High Council were Barbara Putnam and Bruce Norton. Barbara Putnam was also selected to represent the Worcester Chapter at a ten day Leadership Training Center at Wellesley College in July, the first Shrewsbury student to receive such an honor. The aims of the Junior Red Cross are threefold: to promote better relations between the United States and foreign countries; to help war stricken countries; and to make the physically handicapped more cheerful. Under the capable leadership of our President the Council set out to do its share for these causes. With the full co-operation of the students and school organizations, the Council filled a school chest for some needy school in either a foreign land or a disaster stricken section of the United States. The Council also sponsored the making of several other articles for the hospitals. It has had a very successful year and hopes to be able to continue its good work next year.

Lambda Tau Sigma

President.....	Ann Seguin
Vice-President.....	Phyllis Milde
Secretary.....	Nancy Judson
Treasurer.....	Roberta Loomer

The girls' organization, Lambda Tau Sigma, has turned another page in its history. The activities and achievements of 1950-51 will be long remembered by its members. The Penny Sale and the annual hayride activities were most successful, and enjoyed by all. Hi-Y turned the tables by playing host to the members of Lambda Tau Sigma at a spaghetti supper and were chosen the "chefs of the year." The annual Christmas Ball was held during the holidays and was aptly named "Snow Flurry." Decorations, dance orders, and all were very appropriate. The guest speakers at several meetings, the various trips, the mother-daughter night, kept the activities at a high tempo. Lambda Tau Sigma has been more than fortunate in again having as its adviser, Mrs. Russell Bath, whose untiring efforts and inspirational leadership have made this a "never to be forgotten" year. The annual banquet was a fitting climax to a very pleasurable year.

Hi-Y

President.....	Martin Wilson
Vice-President.....	Rodney Mowry
Secretary.....	Joseph Montecalvo
Treasurer.....	David Johnson

The Hi-Y Organization met four times a month under the capable guidance of Mr. Louis Whitcomb. Each year a limited number of boys,—the membership may not exceed 20,—are chosen to become members of this group. Hi-Y is associated with the Y. M. C. A. Yearly meetings and final initiation of members take place at the Y. M. C. A. in Worcester, but most of the meetings are informal gatherings. Perhaps most of us think of Hi-Y as it appears during the hilarious week which follows election of new candidates, when all formality is forgotten. But the club serves a serious purpose as well. At the meetings impromptu discussions are the rule, and from time to time notable speakers are heard on subjects which interest the boys. One of the main events of the social calendar is a week-end Convention, held in some town which has an organized Hi-Y. This year it was held in Westfield, Massachusetts. The Convention proved to be most educational for the ten boys who attended. The seniors graduate this year, but others coming will fill their places. They will carry on the name, tradition, and honor for which the Hi-Y stands.

Science Club

President.....	Joseph Concordia
Vice-President.....	Bradford Francis
Secretary.....	Helen Anderson
Treasurer.....	Vernon Johnson

The Science Club organized for the year with their first meeting in October. Peter Parker, Benjamin Mastro, and Philip Johnson were chosen to make up the program committee. Individual projects in general science, biology, entomology, chemistry, and physics were carried on. As in past years, the Science Club participated in the annual Shrewsbury Science Fair held in Nee Hall in the Spring of the year. The year's activities were concluded in June with a field trip to the new Museum of Science in Boston.

The Camera Club

President.....	Manuel Simonian
Vice-President.....	Joseph Concordia
Secretary.....	Barbara Bushey
Treasurer.....	Vernon Johnson

The Camera Club was organized under the leadership of Mr. Whitcomb. It was established with the purpose of teaching the members how to get the most out of the camera and how to process films and pictures on their own. One of the services rendered by the club was the taking of pictures at a dance. We hope that the club will continue to grow and expand its activities in the future.

This year's team can be proud of their record, six wins and four losses. They also finished second in the Blackstone Valley League. Winning the first game by forfeit from Hudson because of ineligible players, they lost the following two contests to Uxbridge and St. Mary's of Milford. Then the squad came back to win two from Auburn and Millbury only to lose again to a strong Clinton team in a game of bad breaks. Next, Shrewsbury was beaten by Northbridge in another close game. From then on it was three consecutive victories for the Colonials. First Commerce High of Worcester, Holden, and then our big rival, Westboro. The season ended with the election of captains for the 1951 season, George Delorto and Joseph Concordia.

Faculty Manager.....Mr. John Connelly
Manager..... Marshall Lytle

Despite the loss of eight lettermen by graduation and the fact that there wasn't a player over six feet tall, the boys' basketball team still managed to put on a good showing in the 1950-51 season. Led by Co-Captains Marty Wilson and Jim Collamore, the team is looking forward with great anticipation to both the Blackstone Valley League and Clark Tournament Championships.

Front row: R. Defino, A. Granger, V. Johnson, M. Simonian,

Boys' Baseball

Coach.....Mr. Fred Hedlund

This year's baseball team should practically reverse last year's record which consisted of only three victories. What was then a young, inexperienced team this year consisted of tried veterans who were out to seek revenge upon their worthy opponents. The Blackstone Valley League Championship was to be their endeavor. Best of Luck Boys!

Front row: D. Firmin, T. Galastne, P. Kirby, R. Tedford,

P. Johnson, Manager; K. F. Burns, Police Chief, Coach.

Crew

Despite the fact that the crew lost some of its members by graduation and entrance into the armed forces, the '51 season looked promising. Prospects from 1950 second crew together with five veterans of the 1950 squad plus the expert coaching of Chief Kenneth F. Burns blended well to make a fine team. Schools scheduled for the season's races included Columbia, Kent and Tabor, climaxed by the New England Regatta, which was held on Lake Quinsigamond. Many fine New England schools were entered in the event.

Girls' Basketball

Coach.....Miss Margaret A. Chase

Captains.....Nancy Judson, Joyce Firmin

Managers.....Barbara Putnam, Carol Bonardi

Led by Co-Captains Nancy Judson and Joyce Firmin, the basketball season ended with a respectable slate of 4 wins and 8 losses. Nancy Judson, despite her lack of height, was our main rebound artist with her slicing leaps under the basket, either to tap the ball into the basket or to snatch the ball away from the grasp of taller opponents. With Joyce Firmin and Bobbie Loomer playing the outside and deftly handling the ball, we had a well balanced forward wall. On the other side of the court the guards, Frances Zuromskis, Gloria Symonds and Ann Sequin playing a tight zone defense kept our opponents' score down to a minimum. Since only six seniors made up the first team, substitutes from the second team were recruited in case of absence or fouling out of a player. Our managers this year were Barbara Putnam and Carol Bonardi whose gallant efforts to keep score in the games, clean the locker room, and do hundreds of other things were greatly appreciated by the squad. This year's schedule was as follows:

Hockey

Coach.....Miss Margaret Chase
Co-Captains.....Ann Seguin, Frances Zuromskis
Manager..... Roberta Loomer

The girls' hockey team, led by Ann Seguin and Frances Zuromskis, ended the 1950 season with a successful record of only two losses, one of which was a disputed game. Although these losses prevented the team from having an undefeated season, close co-operation and fair play were displayed at all the games. In all, Shrewsbury scored twenty-nine points in goals while the opponents had only a sum of nine points. The second team also displayed their talent when they ended the season with only one loss. Much of the team's success was due to the excellent leadership of Miss Chase who supported the girls to the end. The season was completed with the election of Gwen Severance and Martha Holbrook as captains for the year 1951. We are all sure that next year's team will have just as successful a year, if not an undefeated season.
